01:02:52 Frank Gerdeman: Replying to "Data sharing between..."

As mentioned (with typos) we have automated data sharing within the consortium and added our Title I partner as well.

Through our consolidated reporting and case management platform we are easily able to share that data. In fact, I report on it regularly to any (and all) members as requested. We also look at overlapping services/supports and the roles those play in successful transitions and goal attainment.

Depending on the data sharing agreement, this type of data can be incorporated in your data sharing agreement. This will be determined at a local level. A template including the types of data and variables that you would like access to would be a starting point.

01:06:01 Frank Gerdeman: Replying to "We've automated data..."

We have a platform that allows for easy inclusion and they signed on to data sharing in 2017 and went back five years for data so we have some extensive record overlap now. Feel free to reach out - fgerdeman@ltcc.edu

This is an area where there might be some opportunity for increased revisit and collaboration. In addition, also an chance to look at how we might better coordinate fee for service versus community college CTE programs in a way that best serves the student(s)

01:13:06

Mayra Diaz: Each CAEP Regional Consortium receives the same allocation for the current year as they did in the prior year (unless a COLA is provided and then it would be more than the prior year). The majority (67%) of the CAEP allocation is made up of Maintenance of Effort (MOE) as certified by K-12 and County Offices of Education (COEs). The MOE certification process was based on 2012-2013 adult education related expenses in the ten adult education program areas as submitted by K-12 districts and COEs. This 2012-2013 certification was used to form the K-12/COE base for the MOE. The MOE funding amount does not change unless funding is reduced based on the criteria as specified in AB104 legislation (84914 (b)).

01:15:06

Neil Kelly: Scott: there is no minimum funding - it is based on the original ed code for Maint. of Effort and Regional Need. We could have a 2 or 3 webinars to go over how that was established.

01:15:25

Mayra Diaz: The remaining amount of CAEP funding (33%) was allocated based on a regional allocation formula. According to the AB104 language, the California Community College Chancellor and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction are charged with determining the statewide need for adult education and the funding allocation of each consortium. More specifically, sections 84911 and 84908 (2) (A)(ii), respectively, address these obligations.

01:15:26

Scott Silverman: @Neil Kelly do we have to stick to that original split?

01:15:28 Neil Kelly: Just like Mayra said
